Rights and Dignity across Borders

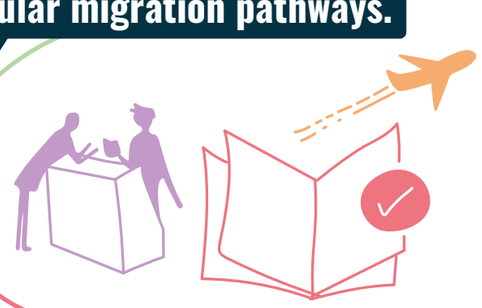
To ensure

RIGHTS AND DIGNITY ACROSS BORDERS,

states should guarantee:

favorable conditions that enhance people's choice to migrate or stay.

accessible and long-term regular migration pathways.



labor rights and decent working conditions for migrants of all genders and work sectors.

social protections and public services regardless of immigration status.

respect for and commitment to the unity of families, in all their diversity.

a narrative on migration that respects and humanizes migrants.

access to full and meaningful participation of all migrants in civic life and policymaking.

human rights throughout each stage of every migration journey.

migration free from discrimination, stigmatization, violence and unjust, punitive actions.